Lorain County Community College has been using the Stitz-Zeager Precalculus OER textbook for our College Algebra class since 2010 and we have found that many of our students have not only pre-requisite content knowledge gaps, but also lack the proper study habits to fully engage in the text. In this talk we will discuss the pre-requisite course we created using OER material to help address these issues. (Received September 26, 2017)
